NOLS Expedition Courses

NOLS Expedition courses take place in remote, backcountry settings. Because of this, the room and board portion of your course doesn't go toward renting an apartment and eating in a cafeteria, it goes toward rations, group equipment (tents, stoves, books), wilderness permits, and transportation to and from the remote places we operate in. When you see the "tuition" prices listed on our website, include the cost of room and board. Here's how it works for you:

- $13,000.00. If you are not at 100% eligibility, they will send whatever your percentage of eligibility is based on the $13,000.00 tuition.
- The other 20% of the total cost is room and board. As you know, the VA will not pay for room and board, and NOLS requires that you pay this portion on your NOLS Dashboard before your course begins.
- If you are eligible for the Basic Housing Allowance, you will receive a monthly disbursement from the VA based on the cost of living in Lander, WY (82520) where NOLS Rocky Mountain and NOLS Headquarters is based. To find out if you're eligible for the Basic Housing Allowance, you can give the VA a call at 1-888-442-4551.
- You are also required to pay the equipment deposit for your course prior to the start date. More information about how required equipment works at NOLS is outlined below.
- You have the option of purchasing the Tuition Insurance for your course. This is not a required fee.

Equipment on expedition courses

Having the right equipment is as necessary for your NOLS Expedition course as having the right books for a history class. You need it to complete the course successfully. Here's how required equipment works at NOLS:

As you saw above, NOLS requires that you pay your equipment deposit before your course begins. At course end, however, NOLS will review your itemized NOLS equipment bill and request payment from the VA for the cost of equipment required for your course. The VA has strict regulations surrounding what equipment items for your course can be certified for reimbursement. They are as follows:

- NOLS can certify items that are required for your course. This does not include duplicated items, optional items, or items that NOLS provides you.
- NOLS can only certify items with the VA that are rented or purchased from NOLS.
- Renting vs. Buying: When looking at your NOLS equipment list, you will see that some items are only available for rent, some items are only available for purchase, and some are available for rental or purchase.

- If you choose to purchase an item that is available to rent from NOLS, the VA will not cover any of the cost of your purchase. Only if an item is not available for rental will the VA cover the cost of a purchase.

For your Expedition course if you have seek more information regarding room/board cost, obtain fax number to convey documents, to speak to a School Certifying Official, or have other questions, please contact the NOLS Expeditions at 800-710-6657, extension 1.

NOLS Wilderness Medicine Courses

NOLS Wilderness Medicine courses are classroom-based courses, room and board is included in the tuition on the website. We require room and board payment out of pocket before the course begins, if you are eligible for the basic housing allowance, the VA will distribute a monthly stipend to you to account for the cost of room and board. For more information regarding room/board cost, obtain fax number to convey documents, to speak to a School Certifying Official, or if you have other questions please contact the NOLS Wilderness Medicine Admission Office at 866-831-9001.
