Meals and Lodging

Whitman students:

The residence halls are technically closed during Spring Break, but Residence Life is usually able to make student housing available. However, they have less staff on hand, and so must consolidate students together, which may mean you do not get to stay in your own room. Contact Residence Life if you are interested in on campus housing during the WFR. Otherwise, students can reach out on their own to upperclassmen that have off campus housing and make arrangements on their own. You can also get a list of fellow students enrolled in the class from the OP Director to see if anyone else in the WFR course can help you with lodging.

Non-Whitman students:

There is no lodging provided for the March WFR courses.

Walla Walla has many hotel, bed and breakfast, and airbnb options. Some hotels that are close include the following, but there are many others:
